Comments: I first want to say how much I support a project like this in the Northwest. It's rare when you look around at our available ski resorts in the area to have both lodging, and an inclusive set of activities for which non-skiers and boarders have a place.

Having a resort like this would open the door for families with varying interest in winter activities a place to come together and enjoy a long weekend or a holiday. Existing resorts in the area are missing out on this opportunity by having limited lodging, and activities. From what I can tell, it looks like this roughed out plan is considering all kinds of activities (tubing, cross country skiing, hiking in the summer and the opportunity for shopping, bars and restaurants).

I think as long as the Forrest Service has a hand in protecting the land from a waste and cleanliness perspective this could have a huge impact on making our lands more accessible in all seasons to a wide variety of people.
