Comments: Please support the Mission Ridge expansion. The interior department has allowed monopolistic corporations to dramatically decrease Americans access to recreational skiing at nearby Stevens Pass where the cost of learning to ski went from $160, come up until you learn (most people that is 3 days), to $130 a day. Visitations dropped dramatically but profits are up thanks to increases in pricing across the board. For rich people this is a great deal, fewer peasants around, but access to recreational opportunities for all Americans has decreased dramatically as well as the ski industry in general since the interior department has handed over our public lands to these wall street oligarchs.

Please help support our remaining free and independent ski resorts however you can.
