Comments: I am a 65 year old life long lumber mill worker. I have lived in Idaho almost all of my life & I have seen a lot of changes over the years, most of them not for the better. Idaho now is not the Idaho of my youth & I see that most people don't remember what it was like, & most people don't want to think about where we are heading. We need to preserve what is left of the wild places of Idaho for the future. We need to preserve what it is about Idaho that we all love. We love the outdoors & being able to see the wild creatures in our wild lands. I like being able to fish for salmon & steelhead & getting to go see mountain goats, moose, deer & elk. But it seems like most people only want to preserve their right to do what ever they want on public land no matter the cost to other species. Enough of Idaho has been given over to corporate interests & we need to think about the future of our planet, the environment & the species that live within it. In my opinion, the way we treat & respect our natural world will greatly determine our own future as a species. Therefore I am 100% behind Wilderness Designations & anything that protects what is left of natural Idaho.
