Comments: I grew up here in North Idaho. Most of my weekends were spent on the trails either on 4 wheelers or trucks as soon as i could get a license. It has gotten very difficult for me to find open trails as the years go by. I dont want to tear up the forest because i love what it provides but i feel more trails have been closed then have been opened. I would love to be able to go up into the woods with my 4x4 and have a good time with my family and friends without having to drive over to Washington and pay to go to one of their overcrowded parks. That's why I got really excited when i heard about a new trail being opened up. I felt i had a glimpse of hope that one day i could have my choice of trails to take my family on.
