Comments: Well let me just start by saying, know one has listened before so why now. You all know exactly what it takes to make our forest heathy , however it always boils down to how has the highest priority and of course money. The forest needs to be thinned starting with the dead and old trees. Give the young trees a chance to survive. My 150 acres is a prefect example . The trees are dying at a alarming rate, as is the rest of our forest. So when you really want to do something .come up and we will take a walk around. fS. Seems to always have excuses .

Thank you,

Don martorello
