Comments: - Primary concern is roadless areas, either by wilderness designation or continued preservation so they can remain eligible in the future. These are extremely valuable finite resources.

- Effective protection of rivers & water quality

- Effective protection of fish & wildlife, many species have so little remaining habitat in which to thrive or even survive.

Because logging & economic interests are always more than adequately represented in our society, I advocate for maximum preservation of scarce remaining natural ecosystems. Thanks for the opportunity to comment!
