Data Submitted (UTC 11): 5/9/2020 7:04:25 PM
First name: Jessica
Last name: Sutter
Organization:
Title:
Comments: One of the best things about Wyoming is the incredible and beautiful land that covers this state. In order to keep the Wyoming wilderness healthy, we need to protect our natural areas, especially old-growth forests and wildlife security areas. Building new roads and logging large areas could destroy some of Wyoming's most unique and vulnerable resources. Before this is approved, it is important for the public to be able to see what land would be affected, so we can comment with more of a complete understanding of the broader impacts of this action.