Data Submitted (UTC 11): 5/26/2020 12:00:23 AM
First name: Gerald
Last name: Reisz
Organization:
Title:
Comments: This comment is related to the Resource Impacts tab and then the Recreation tab.
1. I have always been under the impression the Quemazon Trail ends where it intersects the old Pipeline Road. This is 3 miles from the trail head. On your map you show it continuing up the Pipeline Road until it intersects the trail coming from Canada Bonita. I can't find my copy of the Los Alamos trail map so I am not positive. Worth checking into.
2. The trail you show connecting the Quemazon Trail to the trail in the bottom of Los Alamos Canyon is the Knapp Trail. It was rebuilt in 2018 and 2019. It's path is different than what is shown on the map.