Comments: Don't go through with this massive logging effort. Please consider the consequences to the environment, and to the beauty of the area. There are not many places left in the world that are natural, and those that remain are being whittled away year by year. Do you really want your grandkids to grow up in a world without forests? This logging project is huge, and sets a dangerous precedent. Stick to other areas that are less remote, less pristine, less wild. Let this chunk of land remain unspoiled.
