Before presenting a huge proposal that will erase state environmental goals and resources, I ask that you consider the impacts on local communities and take the appropriate precautions out of respect for the community and habitat. I demand that a EIS must be completed.

The Forest Service must fully consider what is at stake for generations to come. It is your job to protect this irreplaceable land. Your role is to be on the frontlines of climate change and environmental justice. If the Forest Service cannot make decisions that speak for the wants and needs of the people, the habitat of countless creatures, and the generations to come, they are failing as a government entity.

- The Forest Service must fully weigh the importance of this National Forest for reducing the existential dangers of climate change to both our regional ecosystems and human communities. Logging these forests defeats their carbon sequestration potential for decades to come. This is a reality that must be faced.

The extensive and ongoing clearcutting operations on private and state timberlands nearby must be stopped.

The Forest Service must prioritize allowing our National Forest to mature naturally for carbon capture as it is their job to do so.

I demand that The Forest Service considers climate change and makes it a top priority as the future of our world relies on clean water, sensitive wildlife habitat, and compatible recreation. The Forest Service should not construct new logging roads, including so-called "temporary" roads, which act as vectors for invasive species and fires, while fragmenting habitat. Instead, the Forest Service should permanently close unneeded decaying roads. Now is time to represent the people and the environment.
