Comments: Do not clear cut these forests!! It's clear that clear cutting significantly damages wild habitats for animals and wild plants that are essential for the health of the ecosystem. As an herbalist, these habitats are the home for a multitude of medicinal plants some of which are considered "at risk" by the United Plant Savers organization. Now more than ever we need to be preserving and protecting these ecosystems for the long term rather than clearing them for short term profit. We have to think beyond ourselves as humans and consider the other species of which we inhabit this planet with. So please, do NOT cut these forests down!
