Comments: Dear USFS: I am gravely concerned about the potential for logging in the upper watershed of the North Fork of the Nooksack River. This is a very important area for habitat; the NF of the Nooksack is home to the very special and unusual riverine sockeye salmon and Chinook salmon; both runs are on the brink of blinking out, down to a few hundred fish each year. This free-flowing, undammed river is a treasure; logging this high up, in the USFS lands above the upper North Fork, would be a disaster. Please consider focusing your logging projects in other, less sensitive lands. Sincerely, Noah Booker
