

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 6/16/2020 6:01:50 PM

First name: Jeff

Last name: Wong

Organization:

Title:

Comments: It is truly reprehensible the lengths the extraction industry will go to harm our planet. Washington state has become one of the last areas in the country where large swaths of land are protected for future generations to enjoy. The forest plays a major role in our region. Opening the doors to logging will scar the land for generations and result in massive loss of wildlife habitat and ecosystems. I urge you to NOT open the Nooksack for "vegetation management" as doing so would open the flood gates for other area to be logged in the region.