Comments: The massive scale of logging proposed is a major concern and one that I object to. I lived in this area for many years and recognize the great impact this will cause for not only the resident communities there but the ecosystem. With the Climate Crisis so full and present in our lives, this radical logging endeavor will not serve ours or your families, as these forests are one of the best available tools for carbon sequestering and fighting climate change. Thank you for considering these words. I write them for us, and fully believe this plan, should it move forward, would be profoundly harmful.
