Comments: I am strongly opposed to drilling, road construction and a new reservoir in the Holy Cross Wilderness. It is inappropriate and antithetical to the idea of wilderness that the designation and use could be changed on a whim. This area is protected for good reasons. There should be no exceptions made whatsoever for existing protections. Wilderness land is a tiny fraction of the total public land in the US. Build reservoirs elsewhere, on land that is already open to development and that already has roads.
