Comments: Come on USFS! Enough is enough. Here in the high country we cannot handle having more people which means the Front Range is getting too big. Why not first try some pro-active measures like getting the front range do work on better water conservation? No more lawns! No more irrigation! Keep showers short. Stop running water when not necessary. I am sure the water experts know of ways to improve water conservation but probably the big business of water doesn't want to research this. It is up to you, USFS, to ask these questions before you ravage this beautiful wild country!
