Comments: North Fork Nooksack Vegetation Management Project 6/29/20

Part of the area under review in this project is considered crucial headwaters for salmonid habitat. Salmon need clear waters to survive. The activity would disturb and alter the land. The northern spotted owl and marbled murrelets need undisturbed old growth for their nests and to raise their young.

With concern to climate change, we should keep old growth forests intact, as they provide unique environments to forest life and aid in carbon sequestration. I strongly support an Environmental Impact Assessment of this project.
