

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 6/30/2020 11:02:37 PM

First name: Janet

Last name: Way

Organization:

Title:

Comments: A huge logging operation proposed along the Nooksack River is bad in a wide variety of ways. In particular, it is bad for fish and the people who depend upon them, bad for water quality, bad for wildlife habitat, bad for air quality and really bad and not smart for Climate Change. Big trees, especially conifers are our best defense against Climate Change.

This project is indefensible. It needs to go back to the drawing board.