Comments: I think we need Lynx habitat more than we need an expanded ski resort--especially since the Lynx are now threatened. And especially when there likely won't be enough people to utilize the current resort footprint for who knows how many years.

We should take this time to let the Lynx recover fully. When that happens it will likely be around the same time that the economy and people's ability to be in close quarters returns as well.

Don't let the resort go ahead with its plans now.
