Comments: As a resident of Dolores and one who accesses the high country, especially the CT, often through the Ryman Creek drainage I think it would be an unfortunate seasonal closure. Unless wildlife is extremely affected I think it is a mistake. There is very little non-motorized access to the CT from the Dolores river basin and this is one of them. I think it is a great opportunity to allow a local community like Rico and its' trail alliance to help develop the Ryman trail for hiking, biking and skiing. It would be a benefit to both our communities to have access up this trail.
