Comments: This project is a fantastic idea that I fully support. The mountain biking trails in the Stokesville area are an outstanding resource with a growing regional and national reputation. The popularity of mountain biking continues to increase, especially as Covid brings more people outside for recreation. It would be wise to invest in projects like this one that seek sustainable trail design. Bike-specific trail design also helps mitigate erosion and enhances the user experience for everyone. An unfortunate example of poor planning for increased trail usage may be found in the Pisgah National Forest near Asheville and Linville NC - erosion and poor trail design have diminished the beauty and accessibility of trails in those regions and significant repairs are necessary. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.
