Comments: I support this project and would like to see more relocations of "legacy" trails and or new trail construction along the Tillman Road Corridor. As someone who bikes this area often, I think there is a need for more trails and better trail connectivity in the North River District of the George Washington National Forest. The Narrowback Mountain trail system is perfect for intermediate and beginner trail visitors, this is a trail I bring many of my friends who are new to biking in the area. Many of the other other trails in this area have much higher technical demands, which I love, but aren't as accessible to many bikers.

Constructing more trails close to the Forest boundary would cut down on my drive time, and would make the trails more easily accessible. This region is a hub for mountain biking, when I ride I frequently meet people from across Virginia folks from out of state. The GW trails in the North River District are increasingly popular and have seen an influx of use over the past years.
