Comments: Gold supports for our currency. It also has many industrial and cultural applications. Developing mines in a socially-responsible manner is no longer arbitrary. It is endemic to how the modern mining industry operates.

The Midas gold project is designed to remediate legacy environmental issues while also created jobs, tax revenues and business opportunities for the local community. Its management team has a positive industry reputation. I know some of the senior management team and directors. They are dedicated to doing this project right for their company and community. If you have issues, tell them. These professionals will do everything they can to to accommodate all reasonable and legal requests.

I support this project because we need its economic contributions, especially during these COVID times.
