Comments: I am very opposed to the clearcutting projects that are being proposed by USFS for the priceless Tsongas National Forest. These logging projects would cause large-scale damage to one of the Earth's most preserved ecosystems and cause precious Life on Earth to further disintegrate and to tend even further to collapse. It is extremely unwise to propose such plans. They represent backward ways of thinking and of living on this Earth that we must no longer allow to hold sway over our activities and goals. Wake up people before it is too late!
