Comments: Please do not allow Stibnite Gold Project to pass. The SF river corridor serves as a recreational mecca. For the last six years I've made it annual trip to the South Fork Salmon to kayak it. Equally I have also floated the main salmon at least a dozen times in that timeframe. This gold mine would prevent safe passage of both those rivers due to questionable water quality and gold mine practices. Even this year the company in charge of the gold mine made it very difficult to get to yellow Pine multiple times. The road into yellow Pine was closed due to mining operations forcing our group to have to drive an extra two hours to get to yellow Pine. Why that did not guitarist this trip I imagine it's a turd many others from recreational opportunities that the river Corredor offers. The south fork salmon is a unique jem and it's terms of pristine water, remote nature and high quality rapids. The large recreational income that comes to Idaho would be lost to this mining project for the moment and for future generations.
