Comments: This is environmentally disastrous/catastrophic! Also economically damaging to Alaskans.

Logging/lumber comprises 1% of revenue vs 26% from fishing and eco tourism. The destructuon of the old growth forest and the elimination of the roadless rule will adversely impact the wildlife and the livelihoods of Alaskans. Furthermore, clearcutting old growth forests (or any trees) is the most cataclysmic thing that can be done. Clearcutting should be banned outright as an unacceptable destructive action. There is no place/no justification for clearcutting anywhere. Old growth forests must remain intact to serve their function of helping the environment for us all.
