Comments: Further logging in the Tongass, specially clear cutting is egregious and an indefensible assault on the last remaining wild lands and the public domain. In addition to violating the Roadless Conservation Rule, this is an extreme waste of taxpayer money and an affront to sound representative government. Too much of the Old Growth forest has been destroyed. The value of tourism and intact wild ecosystem far outweighs the short term profit for a few corrupting special interest groups. This proposal is ludicrous and needs rejected out of hand.
