Comments: These forests are a national treasure. They are what make America great. To destroy the forest, wildlife and fisheries for junk mail, boxes, and toilet paper is a crime and a sin. The west is burning because of climate change. These forests are our defense against climate change. They are more valuable standing than they are cut down. It does create a handful of jobs but it is a financial loss to cut them down. That is my taxpayer money, my money being wasted on a plan that makes things worse.
