Comments: South Revilla Integrated Resource Project #53477 Consider the clear cut logging of the Old Growth Forest a possibility with too many negatives to contemplate proceeding. Financially it is a loss and not gain for tax payers. Most importantly it is a homeland to the Native American citizens whose lives are harmed by this project. This largest of forests is a world and national treasure, habitat to wildlife and a significant source of income through tourism. It is a major world treasure as the forest is able to store such a significant amount of carbon at 8% needed now more than ever in the battle of climate change. Trust that if you have never had the experience of being there, that it is a treasured experience that needs sharing and not removal as once gone it can never be replaced.
