Comments: My family and I deplore this outrageous proposal to log the Tongass wilderness. It is economically and ecologically indefensible. Old growth rainforest is the only air conditioner our poor planet has, and in the midst of unprecedented global warming, fires in the Brazilian rainforest, and wildfires destroying much of the American west, one can only scratch one's head and try to figure out what motivates craziness like this. We seem bent on bequeathing a desert world to posterity.

NO NO NO NO NO, and a thousand times more. NO.
