Comments: I do not want the gold project to take place. The Salmon River is home to many anadromous fish species integral to the ecosystem, culture, recreation, and way of life of all communities along the Salmon River. The south fork is home to chinook and steelhead, and bull trout! It would be a shame to see such a beautiful river and important spawning and rearing ground lost. I have been fortunate to work on both the main stem and East Fork of the salmon with steelhead, and steelhead and chinook are the lifeblood for many communities along the river: sustenance, culture, recreation. They are already in low numbers and do not need more obstacles. A clean river allows so many to enjoy what the South Fork has to offer. Please don't ruin the South fork of the Salmon.
