

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 9/14/2020 4:12:42 PM

First name: Peter

Last name: Banks-Kenny

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Removing the roadless rule would serve only the interests of logging companies, and is opposed by 2/3 of voters in the area.. The idea of opening forest up to logging on the heels of the WWF report that wildlife population have decreased 68% in the past 50 years is madness. The wealth of this country has always been the land itself. Intentionally destroying more of it as so much burns is madness. Continued environmental destruction over the protests of a majority of people is anti-democratic, and will stain your hands with an indelible shame that will last for generations.