Comments: I work for Action Whitewater Adventures. I have been rafting down the salmon river since I was 12 years old. I'm now 32. The Salmon is the last real untouched river in the United States and to allow these mining companies to begin dumping their garbage into the Salmon would destroy it. It would no longer hold its majestic beauty and be home to thousands of different forms of life that people have come from all around the world to see. I've met people from Europe, Asia, Australia, Canada, Columbia, here in the U.S. and many other countries. All are amazed by the beauty of the Salmon river. They all love that it's been untouched by big businesses and regulated by the law to have those who are blessed to go down it to keep it clean. So many people make rely on the Salmon river as their way of life. To allow these mining companies and ones like them to dump their waste into the Salmon would destroy all of that. Please don't allow them to destroy this great landmark. This last remaining source of happiness, live and freedom not only for wild life but for all the guests including myself who have the honor of rafting and passing through such a beautiful river. The last untouched clean beautiful river not tainted by man's pollutions. Thank you.
