Comments: It is far past time that the governing powers in this country realize what their true responsibilities are, to work in the best interests of the people and the land. Instead, since the beginning, the powers in this country only work for the perpetration of their own wealth and power, this mine is no different. But once you have spent all of your money and destroyed all of our lands do you think the people will still follow you? Or will we rebel against the tyranny that you have wielded above us for so long! I hope that for your sake you save this tributary along with the others in danger, before it's too late for all of us to thrive.
