Comments: I oppose the repeal of the roadless rule in the Tongass National Forest, we need to protect all national forests from development, especially as these lands hold such an important place in the hearts of the indigenous in the region and they sequester huge amount of carbon, playing a huge role in helping mitigate climate change. And in a time where climate change has caused many millions of acres to be burnt down across the west coast, we need to do everything in our power to preserve all forests and wildlife, rather than needlessly encroach on this ancient land and it's incredible ecosystems.
