Comments: I am writing to express my opposition to any logging or building new roads and upgrading existing road in the Tongass National Forest. Although the root cause of climate change has yet to be firmly established, trees remove carbon dioxide from the atmosphere and provide us with oxygen. They also provide shelter for animals and provide atmospheric cooling. Logging in the Tongass will also do damage to the tourism, fishing, and wildlife that help drive Alaska's economy. We need to protect the Tongass for future generations.
