Comments: The South Fork of the Salmon is a national treasure. The free flowing rivers are the ecological lifeblood of Idaho. They stimulate the tourism industry and hold incredible spiritual value for many Americans. The purity and freedom of this river are symbolic of the best of our American values.

Allowing mining in the headwaters of the S. Salmon will wreak irreversible damage to this incredible place. It will tax both the environment and the people of Idaho, without providing any benefits to the community.

Please protect this river and the animals and plants and people who depend on it for our physical and spiritual well being.
