Comments: This is a terrible idea and a waste of money. There are better ways to attract additional summer tourism. Notably, there is a large established mountain biking scene in and around Albuquerque. A real bike park is the obvious best option. Texans frequently drive 10+ hours to visit Angel Fire or Ruidoso for this reason. Albuquerque is missing out. No one is going to come here consistently, year after year, for a Mountain Coaster. It's just a cheesy tourist attraction.
