Comments: I request an extension to the comment period on the purposed Midas Gold/Stibnite Mine project because I intend to read and study and comment on the entire DEIS. There is no way that this can be done in the current time given. The technology difficulties in downloading and autosave are as complex as the amount of technical reading; not to mention the overwhelming volume to decipher and absorb prior to review and comment.

The years that have been given to compile this document should not be diminished. TO be able to absorb, assimilate and form response with intelligent resourced information will take much more time than that currently allotted. Without extended time given to the comment period civil and democratic interaction are denied.
