Comments: As a Teton County, ID resident and an active hiker, cross-country skier , huckleberry and mushroom forager in Teton Canyon and on public lands surrounding Grand Targhee Resort's leased areas, I am adamantly opposed to the granting of any permit for lift additions, infrastructure improvements, boundary expansions or new trail development at Grand Targhee Resort that will threaten or diminish this delicate ecosystem's remaining wildness, solitude or remoteness by increased noise or Visual intrusion.

Structured, for-profit recreation should be confined. The undeveloped nature of the majority of the Caribou-Targhee National Forest holds much transcendent and spiritual values, as well as a connection to the past and to the ecological and evolutionary processes that have existed since time began.
