

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 9/21/2020 1:11:18 AM

First name: Tracy

Last name: Anon

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Money is not the most important thing. It's time for people to recognize massive destruction such as a clear cut In Tongass will only bring profit for a few, certainly not the majority and if that's what you are concerned about then your priorities are misaligned. If nothing else, you should be concerned about air and water quality. I am also worried about the wildlife and the long term effects of the clear cut. Are there species of wildlife and or plant life which are vulnerable or endangered? We are all connected by the web of life, what we do to one species is what we do to our selves in the long run.

This is not an exact quote but that comes from Chief Seattle.