Comments: Given the extreme fire danger in all of our parks, national forests, and BLM properties, I feel it is extremely unwise to sanction increased use by vehicles of any kind- electric or gas powered. Even regular bikes do significant damage to the trails, causing erosion. All of this impacts the eco system and the general resilience of the forests. Climate change causing drought, erosion, and fires is not going away.

We must do everything possible to protect and preserve our remaining natural landscapes.
