Comments: My personal opinion, and it won't be a popular one, is that trails are for everyone. If we can teach the E-biker to respect the trails they should be welcome. I've seen some mountain bikers not respecting the trails and hikers seem to be leaving many poop bags on the trails. I personally wouldn't use an e-bike on a mountain bike trail because one of the reasons I ride is for fitness. But why should people who don't have that fitness goal be restricted from enjoying the vast trail system in this state? I understand that motorcycles, dirt bikes and quads, etc can tear up a nice trail. But do e-bikes tear up trails? I would need to see evidence of this before I would be willing to restrict their usage. Thanks.
