Comments: I've started riding electric mountain bikes about a year ago. This is after I've spent almost 30 years riding pedal bikes on single track trails. The difference on the trail impact is impercievable. The e bikes leave the same footprint behind as a normal bike. Speeds carried by class 1 e bikes are also almost no different. I used to climb my local trails at about 3 to 4 mph. Now on my e bike I can climb same trail at about 7 or 8 mph. Please put a representative on a class 1 emtb. You will quickly see that they are not what the opposition has portrayed them as....I am a strong advocate for the use of Class 1 bikes on National Forest singletracks.
