Comments: I have a heart condition that restricts my heart rate to around 150bpm. If I go above that, I could end up hypertensive and in the ER. I ride my electric mountain bike in order to keep my heart rate under this threshold. People like me should be able to enjoy the trails all the same as those who don't have ailments, and frankly, if e-bikes are not allowed on trails it seems discriminatory. Class 1 electric mountain bikes are not remotely close to what motorcycles are. Technology has unlocked my ability to keep doing what I love, despite my condition, and it would be a shame not to utilize it. I am 100% in favor of e-bikes on the national forest trails.
