Comments: Been a avid cyclist all my life I have enjoyed country roads organized rides bike trails the camarodery of other strong riders now that I am older I can't keep that pace .with the advent of e bikes I can now do those things again can't see how these things are distructive or any more harmfully than pure people power it all comes doun to courtesy and respecting everyone on bike paths this day and age I know this is a problem but you can't regulate people's additude doing so will only harm all.class 1 2 or 3 they all need to get out there I would like to say let them all have access we all have a stake in paths and trails all we need is courtesy and respect for other riders whatever kind of bike they bring
