Comments: Regarding allowing electric bicycles on your trails, if any other bicycle is allowed, any electric bicycle should also be allowed, regardless of their class. Not everyone can afford to get different classes of bicycles. The electric bicycles with throttles only offer more assistance to those with less strength and stamina, allowing them to also enjoy time in our forests, without getting in the way of other riders. The increase in electric bicycles is very similar to the time when snowboarding was new to traditional ski slopes. Now, they outnumber skiers. Electronic bicycles offer no footprint greater than that of non-motorized bicycles. They are not loud, they are roughly the same size, and they go no faster than many non-motorized bicycles. My hope is that I can take my family to any bike trail and be accepted the same as any other bicyclist. Although we don't have the physical stamina of many younger cyclists, we still should be able to enjoy the beautiful outdoors the same as others, without having to modify our already expensive bicycles that won't cause any ill effects to anybody around us. Thank you for your consideration.
