Comments: I have been a cyclist most of my life, but thought I might never ride seriously again after having a family, getting injured, gaining weight due to recovery from addiction and other factors. Riding a Class 1 eBike has given me enough assist and confidence to allow me to get back out on the trails, rehabilitate my knees, and start the long road back to physical fitness. A properly classed and regulated eBike poses no more threat to the environment and other trail users than a traditional bicycle, and I believe they should have access as such.
