Comments: As a former mining professional, I fully support the advancement of the Midas Gold - Stibnite Project as I have been following. In our era of modern mining technology and stewardship of resource and environmental protection, this project is on track to meet the needs to satisfy demand for resource while reclaiming past mining environmental damage and future mitigation. The impact this project brings to sustainable economic value to the state of Idaho, its communities through employment and downstream economies to support an operation of this size is vital to our state and will add value from tax based revenue on many levels of benefit.

I fully support this project.
