Comments: Please do not destroy any more forest. I have flown over the lower 48 where the pilot announces on the plane that the forest destruction you are seeing is from clear cutting not from any fire. It was as if the oxygen was sucked out of the plane. Everyone was solemn and sad for the rest of the flight.

Clear cutting, it looked like a disease on the planet. I can only imagine how it is viewed from space.

I have driven through clear cutting and flown over it. It's destruction and it never comes back.

It effects all the animals and birds. Where are they going to go? It effects the water supply causing flooding. It drastically effects territorial animals that need so much space to hunt and survive.

Why are you doing this? There are so few trees left.

Is this just to make toilet paper? If so tell people to buy a bidet or get in the shower.

This is not green. This is destruction. This is harming the ecosystem. This is harming the planet that we live on.
